

I-AA National Champion James Madison Recruiter Visits Greenbrier East Spartans

On May 12, assistant coach Phil Ratliff of the James Madison University football program visited the Greenbrier East High School football facilities to speak with potential recruits.

The Dukes became the first team in history to win the NCAA Division I-AA National Championship by winning all postseason games away from their home stadium. Harrisonburg, Virginia-based JMU defeated Lehigh, Furman, William & Mary, and Montana to claim the 2004 national title.

Coach Ratliff left Greenbrier East impressed with the Spartans facilities and the large number of student-athletes working out in preparation of the 2005 season.
